Toronto turns tropical this weekend

Mabuhay Festival

Jul 23

Metro Convention Centre

Fiestas and festivals are the Filipinos' way of having fun. Aside from a food feast, what is a festival without music and dancing? Most of the traditional dances of the Philippines are deeply rooted in its culture. They continue to convey in storytelling fashion, with beautiful fluid or dramatic movements and costumes, the story of the everyday lives of Filipinos.

For more information, check out the Mabuhay Festival website.

Tirgan Iranian Festival

Jul 21 to Jul 24

Harbourfront Centre

The waterfront comes alive with Iranian art, culture, cuisine, activities, entertainment, and shopping. This festival includes a number of world and Canadian premieres in traditional, contemporary and transitional styles of dance, music, theatre, literature, film and visual arts. The artists and writers explore the concept of

"Visions of Eternity."

For more information, check out the Harbourfront Centre website.

Caribbean Carnival: Soca and Dance Workshop

Remembering David Phillips

Matt Galloway spoke with The Tragically Hip's guitarist Rob Baker. He is the executive producer of a documentary called "El Payo", which tells the story of how flamenco came to Toronto, courtesy of the late David Phillips.

Listen (runs 5:59)

A diplomatic brat, Aparita Bhandari grew up around the world, exploring each stop through its culture. She spent her formative years in New Delhi, India, where she nurtured her love for the South Asian arts and caught the journalist's bug. After her move to Toronto, she has married her two passions to become a roving arts reporter in the city.
